C. Wayland (Curley) Brooks, 59, Former U. S. Senator, Dies

CHICAGO (UP)—Former U. S. Sen. C. Wayland (Curley) Brooks, 59, of Chicago died today at Passavant Hospital following a heart attack.

Brooks, who was Illinois Republican national committeeman at the time of his death, entered the hospital Jan. 8 after an attack of chest pains.

His illness was diagnosed as a "dissecting aneurism of the aorta," or a tear in an artery of his heart. A hospital spokesman said death was attributed to the heart condition.

Brooks was defeated three times in races for public office before his election to fill the unexpired term of Democratic Sen. James Hamilton Lewis in November of 1939. He took office in 1940 and was reelected to a full term in 1942.

A native of Bureau County, Brooks was born in 1897 and served in the U. S. Marines during World War I. He attended the University of Illinois, the University of Chicago and Northwestern University, from which he received a law degree in 1926.

A colorful personality, Brooks was a strong isolationist and during the 1942 campaign found himself at odds with both presidential candidates, Republican Wendell L. Willkie and Democrat Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"I came back from France," he said, "determined to have something to say about running my government and determined that no American soldiers should ever again be sent to die in foreign lands."

However, he voted for war on Dec. 8, 1941, and the following day volunteered but was turned down for military service. He suffered seven wounds and was decorated three times in World War I, and won a battle field commission.

He was a constant critic during the war of what he called government inefficiency and over concentration of executive power. After World War II, he became a bitter foe of communism. He also was a leader in the fight to remove wartime governmental controls.

He opposed the 3-billion-dollar post-war loan to Britain and supported Republican attempts at post-war tax cuts.

Survivors include his widow, a son, Russell, and three stepchildren, John, Betty and Anne. The son was by his first wife, the former Miss Gertrude Ackery of St. Joseph, whom he married in 1920. They were divorced and he married Mrs. Arthur J. Peavy Jr. in Washington in 1946.

He was a member of the Illinois and Chicago bar associations, American Legion, Forty and Eight, Purple Heart Assn., Army and Navy Legion of Honor, Phi Delta Phi, Delta Sigma Phi, and the Masons.

Temperature Four Above This Morning

Harrisburg community residents this morning woke up to find the coldest day of the year.

Official temperature was four degrees above zero, it was reported by Clyde Pittman, local observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Eisenhower May Ask Congress to Boost Interest on Savings Bonds

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower may ask Congress to boost the interest rate on U. S. savings bonds to give a shot in the arm to lagging sales, it was disclosed today.

Just when he will make the move is uncertain. A high-ranking Treasury official said the administration has been considering such a plan for several weeks. But he said, "We haven't decided on just how or when yet."

The problem became particularly acute in the latter half of 1956 when investors found they could get more than the 3 per cent interest rate paid on government savings bonds. This made such bonds something less than "one of the world's finest investments," as advertised.

As a result, Americans invested their money in other than savings bonds, and 1956 sales fell about 557 million dollars short of the government's goal of more than $5,600,000,000. Savings Bond Director John R. Buckley is certain to lower his sights this year.

Americans still own more than 57 billion dollars worth of Series E and H savings bonds. But a treasury official conceded that the department is "running scared" because the public cashed in 100 million dollars more than they bought in the last seven months of 1956.

Willard Blue Hurt in Unusual Auto Accident

Willard Blue of Harrisburg was injured last night in a crash that had unusual results.

Blue suffered severe lacerations of the forehead and scalp when the car he was driving hit the rear of one driven by George Milburn of Carrier Mills on Route 45 at Carrier Mills.

State Policeman Roy A. Lane said Blue's machine hit the Milburn auto when Milburn slowed for a left turn off Route 45 at Carrier Mills.

The Milburn car caught fire and Milburn, his wife and son jumped out of the moving auto from the driver's side when the right door jammed because of the impact.

The driverless car continued down the highway, then ran into the yard of the Carrier Mills high school and came to rest against the school building.

Milburn was examined for a back injury following the crash.

Arrest Score in Patrol of Route 13 Area

The Gallatin county sheriff's department and Illinois state policemen, seeking to cut down the high accident rate on Route 13 in Gallatin county, conducted a concentrated patrol of the area between Old Shawneetown and the Routes 1-13 intersection Saturday night and early Sunday.

More than a score of arrests were made, it was learned, with the Gallatin county jail filled to overflowing. The patrol was in effect from 8:30 p. m. Saturday to nearly 4 a. m. Sunday.

During the patrol, one stolen car was picked up before the owner reported it missing.

And, state police reported, with the public in general learning what was going on, there wasn't an auto collision in the area.

"Not even a fender got scratched," one person declared.

Telephone lines were out to Shawneetown this morning and the full story could not be obtained. However, it was learned authentically that three or four were arrested for intoxication, driving, four or five for illegal transportation of liquor and a half dozen for intoxication. The remainder were arrested for various reasons, mostly for violation of traffic laws.

One youth reported to officers at Old Shawneetown that his automobile had been stolen there and a radio message to state police up the line revealed that the car already was at the Gallatin county court house. Arrested was the driver, Earl Wayne Dooley from Eldorado.

Reports were that when it became generally known what was going on, people lined up at one restaurant to get black coffee.

An inquest into her death will be held Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the court house, it was announced today by Coroner Jimmy Thornton.

President Walks Through Dust In Drought Tour

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER.—President Eisenhower, personally investigating drought conditions in six states, walked through dust shoe-top deep today and watched gaunt cows gulp cactus leaves.

The President, who spent the night at Goodfellow Air Force Base, near San Angelo, Texas, made his first on-the-spot investigation in a 22-mile automobile trip south and southeast of San Angelo, which is in west Texas.

After his trip around San Angelo, he took off in the presidential plane, Columbine III, for Woodward, Okla., and an automobile tour of that area. He will visit Colvis, N. M., and Tucson, Ariz., later today.

Farmers around San Angelo have made only three crops in the last eight years. The last good crop they made was in 1949 and the last decent crop was in 1950. Their farms and their cattle looked it.

"Good luck to you," the President told Joe R. Lemley, an Angus cattle rancher at Pecan Station, near San Angelo.

"Delighted to see you with your chins up," he told a group at the Wilbert Block Ranch. "Everybody will do his best."

See Scrawny Sheep

On the Earl Byrd ranch, he watched hired hands and cowboys single inch-long spines from prickly pear, a form of cactus.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, who was with the President, picked a prickly pear leaf that had been de-spined—a prickly pear leaf looks like an olive colored pancake—tossed it to a cow. She ate it greedily.

The cattle the President saw had weather-beaten hides and the sheep looked scrawny. Farmers showed him how they had listed their land in an effort to keep the coming spring winds from tearing away the top soil and dropping it hundreds of miles away.

In listing, deep furrows are plowed and the mounds between them partly flattened. The idea is for what remains of the furrows to catch some of the dust.

Mr. Eisenhower is on a plane and automobile tour that will cover some 4,500 miles of drought-stricken land in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Kansas.

Burglary at Omaha

The Max Duvall blacksmith shop at Omaha was burglarized Saturday night and three electric motors, several boxes of bolts and other items were taken.

Guest speaker will be Goffrey Hughes, executive director of Southern Illinois Incorporated.

The association is composed of citizens of Saline, Gallatin, Hardin, Pope, Johnson and Massac counties who are seeking to develop a tourist industry in this part of the state.

Dinner reservations should be made with William Farley, 207 East McElrath street, Harrisburg, by Thursday, Jan. 17.

Mrs. George Clark Dies at Daughter's Home in Oklahoma

Mrs. Pearl Clark, 72, wife of George Clark of 4 Indiana avenue, in Gaskins City, died Sunday at 8:15 a. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Monroe Roper in Ada, Okla. Death was due to a heart attack.

She and Mr. Clark had gone to their daughter's home to spend the winter.

She was the daughter of the late J. B. and Carrie Beltz Martin of Saline county.

Besides her husband and daughter she leaves the following children: J. B. Clark of Harrisburg, Mrs. W. R. Norman, Houma, La., Wayne Clark, New York, N. Y., Jack Clark of San Diego, Calif.; 10 grandchildren and two great grandchildren; also one sister, Mrs. Harry Draper, Chicago.

The body is being returned by hearse from the Harrisburg funeral home and will arrive in Harrisburg early in the morning. Funeral arrangements await the arrival of relatives.

Auto Catches Fire In Attempt to Start

A foreign-made automobile owned by Alfred G. Owens caught fire at its parking place in the alley behind The Daily Register office around noon Sunday.

The fire department said an attempt to start the auto was being made by cranking it and pouring gasoline into the carburetor simultaneously and that when the engine backfired, the gasoline caught fire.

Damage was estimated at $125.

Actor Humphrey Bogart Dies of Cancer at Age 57

Actor's Wife, Lauren Bacall, Is At His Bedside

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actor Humphrey Bogart, 57, veteran movie tough guy and one of Hollywood's most colorful characters, died of cancer today with his wife, actress Lauren Bacall, at his bedside.

The Academy Award winning actor, who had been operated upon a year ago for throat cancer, succumbed during a coma at 2:10 a. m. Dr. Maynard Bransma said. A spokesman for the family said funeral services would be conducted Thursday.

"Bogart was still talking to everybody Saturday night," the doctor said. "Sunday morning he went into a coma. He went to sleep and just didn't wake up. 'Early this morning he took a deep breath and died.'"

Dies at Home

The doctor said Bogart was a victim specifically of carcinoma, a general spread of the original cancer.

Message to Assembly Urges Annual Meetings, $236 Million Bond Issue

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton recommended today in his second term inaugural address that a constitutional convention be called to write a new state constitution embodying Hodge scandal reforms and other changes.

Stratton also left the door open to a tax increase for schools and welfare programs.

The governor's inaugural message to the 70th General Assembly contained recommendations for 4 constitutional changes—Annual rather than biennial legislative sessions, elimination of the auditor and treasurer as elective offices, judicial reform and the right to vote for 18-year-olds.

Stratton also asked for a 236-million-dollar bond issue for state educational and welfare institutions, an overhaul of the expensive public aid program, an increase of 600 men in the state police force, a state speed limit law, a pay raise for state employees and creation of permanent commissions on higher education and municipal problems.

Ceremonies at Armory

Stratton, 42, was inaugurated for his second term as Illinois' 32nd governor by State Supreme Court Chief Justice Ray L. Klingbiel at ceremonies in the State Armory.

His swearing-in was witnessed by a joint session of the Legislature, and an expected crowd of 5,000 persons which included the governor's wife, mother and two daughters.

The governor's party rode in a parade from the executive mansion to the armory and the University of Illinois band played at the inauguration.

Also inaugurated were Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, Atty. Gen. Latham Castle, State Treasurer Elmer Hoffman and State Auditor Elbert S. Smith.

Climax of the inaugural day program is the inaugural ball tonight where the orchestras of Duke Ellington, Griff Williams and Frank York will provide the music for dancing at the armory in the Capitol rotunda.

Would Make Four Changes

Stratton's address included recommendations for four constitutional changes and he has also supported an amendment to the revenue article of the 1870 constitution. But only three articles of the constitution may be amended at any one time outside a constitutional convention.

Calling of a convention requires a two-thirds vote by both houses of the Legislature and approval by a majority of the voters at a general election. Stratton's predecessor, Adlai E. Stevenson, failed in an attempt to have a convention called to rewrite the 1870 constitution.

Pointing out the number of changes he was recommending Stratton said "I recommend that in addition to any immediate improvements which may be submitted for the people's approval that an opportunity be given for the calling of a constitutional convention."

On taxes, Stratton said the budget could be balanced for the next two years out of current revenues—"were it not for" increased demands for schools, public aid and welfare and educational institutions.

"We might as well face up to the necessary cost of these programs," Stratton said, adding that excessive administrative costs and overlapping would not be tolerated. Wants Need Shown

"I shall oppose any tax increase which is not specified for school or welfare purposes," he said. He added that the need for a tax increase in these areas would have to be demonstrated.

Stratton said he would comment more fully on taxes in his budget message to be delivered later.

To prevent recurrences of the Hodge scandal, Stratton recom-

Inspection Team Visits Sites for Federal Prison

MARION, Ill. (UP)—An inspection team today visited West Frankfort and the Salem-Mt. Vernon-Centralia area in its tour of possible sites for a new federal penitentiary.

The team, headed by Myrl Alexander, assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, visited the Marion-Herrin-Carbondale area Sunday.

Alexander said he was "very favorably impressed" by a 1,200-acre tract in the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge near the three communities.

Alexander said he was impressed with the housing, schools and other community factors in the towns and the proximity of Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, with its vocational studies.

Tuesday, the team will go to Vandalia and Litchfield, on Wednesday to Taylorville and Thursday to Sullivan and Effingham.

The Farm Outlook

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The immediate outlook for America's farmers in 1957 is reasonably bright. Most of the experts think prices of farm products will advance perhaps five per cent in the next 12 months. But that will still leave levels considerably below the all-time peak.

At the end of 1956, farm prices had risen six to seven per cent above the same period the year before. But they still were more than 24 per cent beneath the highs of February, 1951, in the middle of the Korean war.

(Once again, it should be noted that the long decline had a bipartisan character, despite all political comment to the contrary.)

What impresses the farm economists as we look ahead in the new year is the certainty of sizeable soil bank payments to farmers and the likelihood of substantial exports. Together these factors should lift prices and reduce burdensome surpluses.

Export totals are figured for fiscal periods running from July 1 to the following June 30. Last season, America's farm exports came to $3.5 billion. For the current fiscal year, the prospect is that a peak of $4.1 billion will be attained.

The boost in exports appears to result partly from extraordinary government efforts to regain world markets, especially for such crops as cotton, and partly from developing crises which are handicapping output abroad.

We should do no cheering that the misfortunes of others have given us this opportunity to improve our farmers' circumstances. But we can take advantage of the situation to speed adjustments that might otherwise take much longer.

If higher exports plus reduced production under the soil bank plan lead to really healthy cuts in farm surpluses, then the moment will be at hand to find and enact into law long-range farm programs which will substantially prevent any new buildup of excess stocks.

We cannot count indefinitely on disturbed world conditions stimulating the export market. In the end, we have to solve the problem at home, by bringing production into basic balance with U. S. consumption.

With the nation's rising population curve, this should not be an impossible matter. Nor should the expansion which marks so much of the U. S. economy be denied ultimately to our farmers.

Where Does Chiang

Get That Stuff?

Congressmen who have visited Formosa recently say that Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is talking big about an early return to the Chinese mainland.

At this distance one must conclude that Chiang's present purpose is to shore up the morale of his Nationalist troops, many now long denied the chance to see their homeland.

Certainly nothing said by President Eisenhower or any Washington member of his official family would justify Chiang's optimism.
Without U. S. air and naval support, the Nationalists would be embarking upon one of the most foolhardy military adventures in history.

Chiang must know this. What is harder to understand is the report that American military and diplomatic representatives on Formosa are giving unqualified support to the idea of a Nationalist invasion.

Clearly they would not publicly undercut the generalissimo in statements he may make to bolster Nationalist morale. But if they give earnest private endorsement to the plan they may convince him it has full support in Washington and is therefore really workable.

Mr. Eisenhower and his top advisers have given no indication they hold such a view.

guage contain all the vowels in

We Move Refugees First Figuring Cost Comes Later

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— No body has stopped to figure up the costs of the Hungarian refugee relief operation. This is considered to be as it should be. For when a great humanitarian movement is underway, money is a secondary consideration.

But conservative estimates put the costs of the American relief effort in behalf of the first 21,500 refugees to be admitted to this country at a minimum of 10 million dollars and probably much closer to 20 million.

In other words, from approximately $500 to $1,000 for each refugee.

These figures are not being cited as a complaint.

They are given to show the need for greater contributions to private agencies carrying the burden of the expense is being borne by the U. S. government.

The American Council of Voluntary Agencies, which is finding sponsors and jobs for the Hungarians after they arrive in this country, reports that the cost of res-tling each refugee is around $250
— $1,000 for a family of four.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS, which is maintaining two of the refugee camps in Austria, is collecting five million dollars for its work. These American camps have an average population of 7,500.
Nearly all of the refugees want to come to the U. S.

If the first 21,500 refugees are cleared through these camps, the average cost will be $230 for each person. Actually, refugees in the camps can be fed for about a dollar a day apiece. But additional costs for housing, fuel, bedding, medical care and miscellaneous transportation and overhead run up the bill.

CARE — Cooperative for American Relief to Everywhere — is collecting two million dollars to help feed the refugees. But its food packages are not limited to American-bound refugees. A part of the American Red Cross contribution also goes to other camps and directly into Hungary through International Red Cross.

Officials of President Eisenhower's Emergency Committee for Hungarian Relief, under Tracy S. Voorhees, estimate that U. S. government agencies will ultimately spend dollar for dollar with private relief groups whose costs are seen to be close to $500 a person.

ACTUAL OUT-OF-POCKET COSTS to the government in moving refugees to America are not too great. Transportation by Air Force plane is about $70 a person and by Navy transport $135. Passengers aboard ship have a week's food and care.

But government transportation is the least of the expense. That is why President Eisenhower authorized the Voorhees committee to call upon all government agencies for any services they can render.

Their costs will be reimbursed later, either from the President's 100-million-dollar emergency fund or by congressional appropriations.
Thus Army mobile hospitals, Quartermaster Corps supplies, the 1,700 military personnel servicing the Camp Kilmer, N. J., reception center, the Immigration Service inspectors and Public Health Service doctors are drawn into this huge effort.

There is no accurate cost-accounting as yet. This is like war — a war of mercy in which few taxpayers will begrudge the bill. It is actually much cheaper than a shooting war would be.

One of President Eisenhower's first acts was to allocate a million dollars from his emergency funds for United Nations relief among all Hungarian refugees in Austria.
This was followed by another four million in mid-December.

ALL THIS GIVES THE BACK-GROUND for the apparent financial vagueness of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's report on the Hungarian refugee situation.

It is a mere prelude to the demands for additional legislation to let in more refugees and for deficiency appropriations to government agencies to help them meet the costs.

No ceiling has yet been put on the number of refugees to be admitted to the United States after the first 21,500. The Kilmer reception center, with a capacity for 12,000 beds, is rapidly being put into shape to handle an average of 500 arrivals and 500 departures a day, for an indefinite period.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth.—Matt. 5:5.

The senior line of inheritance becomes extinct in an amazingly short time. Just a few generations ago and entitled property under former laws passed to the younger line that inherited little.
There were seventy thousand

"They're going to start kissing games—we can go hide

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Hollywoodites Are Talking About:
The new "liberalized" film censorship code which now permits the previously taboo subjects of drug addiction, kidnapping of children, abortion and nudity "under restrained and careful treatment." But that brand-new ban on "open-mouth" kissing may turn out to be quite a hardship on Marilyn Monroe.

Ginger Rogers admitting a "tense" marital situation with hubby Jacques Bergerac. Now going their own ways in the career department, Ginger's saying, "We have had disagreements, but there is nothing more to say right now."

Gregory Peck delaying filming of "Thieves Market" in Madrid until March. He's waiting for Ava made with MGM when he agreed to play the role Jimmy Stewart

The reason Bob Lowery of TV's

He once owned the land on which

The 16-mm. footage is being blown

The period of the series is before electric razors were invented so I guess it's no more shaves for the cast.

Susan Hayward's one-time boy

Rossano Brazzi's dates with a vo-

George Burns adding another

Eartha Kitt telling about "The close but our relationship was never romantic." It's too bad Dean can't write back on the subject of "The Friends I Knew." Might be surprising.

Pat O'Brien's story about two Irishmen lost in a snowstorm in

Egyptian Health Dep't News

To attain high standard food handling establishments in both the rural and city areas of Saline county, ordinances need to be passed with a follow-up of complete enforcement.

Dr. James H. Wells, director of the Egyptian Health department, has stated "the authority of this department is governed completely by ordinances and the cooperation of law enforcement agencies within the institution where the violation is being created."

Our population is continually growing. Today there are more people eating away from home than ever before. It is for the protection of these people that we have ordinances authorizing the maintenance of high standard operations. At present there are no such regulations in this area. However, such regulations could and would greatly improve food handling establishments.

Through the cooperation of most managements, much has been done to improve food handling sanitation. However, there is still much to be done. Most of us see or know little of the kitchen operations in eating establishments. Therefore, we are dependent on the management for safe food to eat.

When proper ordinances are passed and duly enforced, you have an added protection that the food you eat away from home is clean and safe for you and your family. Ordinances such as these are for you and they need your support.

VINSON—In the midst of our sorrow we wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our many relatives and friends for sympathy shown us in the loss of a beloved father and grandfather, John Vinson. We especially wish to thank the Rev. Ruth Martin for her consoling words, all the donors of the many beautiful floral offerings, the pallbearers and singer, the Harrisburg funeral home for their kind efficient management of the service.

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

Copyright 1956 by Elizabeth Seifert. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Cass Ward's mother-in-law, known as Aunt Cordy, has been telling her of her struggles to raise Alex and his sister Marcy. Aunt Cordy was a widow and it was through help from Dr. Knapp that she managed to operate a boarding house for outpatients at the hospital.

XI

Back in their own quarters a little later, Alex and Cass found its quiet, and the soft lamplight, restful. It was late, but Alex still seemed inclined to think and to talk. While Cass moved about, turning down the bed, getting her robe from the closet, he sat on the couch, smoking, the evening paper in his hands, but his thoughts elsewhere.

"Just what did Aunt Cordy tell you tonight?" he asked, after a time.

She told him, briefly, the story which Cordy Ward had told her. When finished, she mentioned her admiration for his mother.

"I want you to know, Cass," he said, in a tone so impressive as to be almost weighty, "that the town of Blue Jay Cove was good to my mother. Practically everyone here was good to her, and helped her. Without their help and support, she never could have managed this house; she could not have done what she did for herself, and for Marcy and me. Sure she worked hard, and has a right to be proud of what she did, but—well—the town helped. And especially the Knapps. They were good to Aunt Cordy so constantly, so—well—in so many ways, that I am sure she has lost sight of the fact that they were good to her. She came to accept their backing as one comes to accept the support of a father—she counted on it. As it happened, that was all right. But, still, it was a big thing, that help. Like having Dr. Knapp tell the bank always to cover her checks, at least until he could find out why she'd needed an overdraft.

"That's why I felt I had to come back here and practice medicine for a while, and try in my only way to do something for Blue Jay Cove. Maybe now you, too, can recognize my debt to the place."

Cass had a hard, hurting lump in her throat. A man with a fine sense of obligation was a fine man to have for a husband. And yet... "Sue told me," she said slowly, "that you were not obligated in any way. At least, not to the hospital."

"I was already away at college when Sue first came to House Springs," he said. "She doesn't know about those early days."

"I thought you got along fine with Sue," Cass was honestly surprised.

"I do get along with her," he affirmed. "It's only that she thinks she has to entertain me."

Cass giggled. "I see what you mean. But speaking of Sue, what about this Matt character? Haven't you any idea of when he's coming home?"

Alex nodded. "He's in the States now. I think he could come home, and may, at any minute. And then maybe we'll be sorry. He's a queer cuss."

"You don't like him!" Cass sat back and looked gloomily at Alex. "No, I guess I don't. I'm pretty sure he can be, and is, sometimes, a heel. A charming heel. Of course, some of my feeling about Matt may be jealousy."

Cass jerked. "Of Sue?"

He laughed at her, and taking her chin between two fingers, he kissed her.

"There are things to be jealous of besides women," he instructed her now. "I'm sorry."

"He has his own ideas of what is funny," Alex was saying. "He can be somewhat overbearing in arguable matters—not that one can argue with him. He pays a bigger price, hits a little harder and farther below the belt; he says something a little nastier—"

"A bully!"

"Yes. Oh, yes, he's a bully. Always has been here in town. But, Cass—all bullies are frightened men, uncertain of their own abilities. Matt has more money, and can shout louder than others. He hopes those things will conceal the qualities in which he is deficient. But—maybe it would be better if you'd forget I've said these things."

At the hospital the next afternoon, Alex came upon Francy in her wheel chair. "What about Mrs. Reudlinger?" she asked forthrightly.

Alex nodded. "She'll be all right. I'll pin the bone..."

He attempted to go around the chair, but the pretty woman in gray silk quarter-turned the wheels to place it in his way.

"You've decided that, have you?" asked Francy, her tone unpleasant. "Why, yes. I've had very good results with Neufeld pins. I'm sure Mrs. Reudlinger will stand surgery quite well."

"You call setting a broken bone surgery?"

Alex's hand rubbed the prickling hair on the back of his neck. "When I talked to the family," he said quietly, "they said to do anything we considered necessary."

That morning Mrs. Reudlinger had precipitated a crisis in the hospital routine. A woman of 75, crippled with arthritis, she had, against all orders, walked alone up to the spring house. Her arthritic knee had buckled under her weight, which was considerable, and she had fallen.

"I'm sure," Francy was saying, "that you have not forgotten, Alex, that I still manage this hospital?" Alex gaped at her. He couldn't be hearing aright!

"But, Francy!" he protested. (To Be Continued)

Ex-Mate Kills Former Wife's Third Husband

BEAVERTON, Mich. (AP) — Authorities planned to seek a first degree murder warrant today against a jealous man who shot his former wife's third husband less than eight hours after the couple's marriage.

Gladwin County Prosecutor George Johnson said Harold S. Lidster, 32, gave himself up and signed a statement in which he admitted shooting Clyde Priest, 20, three times early Sunday as he slept.

"I didn't mind her getting married again but she promised me she wouldn't. She told me she wasn't going to get married and when she did I got mad. I probably would think twice if I had to do it over again," Johnson said Lidster told him.

Police said Lidster and his former wife, Esther, 32, were divorced last February. They said he forced his way into a home where the newlywed couple was spending their wedding night early Sunday, barged apst his former wife who answered the door and went into the bedroom where he shot Priest three times as he slept.

Mrs. Priest told police she ran when she saw the pistol in her husband's hand. She said she escaped through a window and fled to a neighbor's home.

Police said Lidster turned himself in shortly after the shooting. They said he told them he also planned to shoot his former wife but was unable to get a shot at her.

U. S. Proposes 5-Point Plan for Disarmament

Lodge Outlines Program to UN Committee

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States today proposed a five-point disarmament plan providing for peaceful use of all future nuclear production and aiming at the ultimate prohibition of atomic and hydrogen test explosions.

Outlining the program to the United Nations Main Political Committee, U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. also proposed a cutback in manpower to 2,500,000 for the United States and Russia and 750,000 for Britain and France; control of outer space satellite tests and safeguards against surprise attack.

The disarmament proposals, he said, would be carried out only under an effective inspection system. In the case of armed forces, such inspection would include President Eisenhower's "open skies" plan for aerial reconnaissance as well as utilizing ground inspection teams.

Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, repeating Russia's previous arms reduction proposals, offered a resolution to call a special session of the General Assembly on disarmament.

Lodge summarized these five objectives for the U. S. arms reduction plan:

"1. To reverse the trend toward larger stockpiles of nuclear weapons and to reduce the future nuclear threat.

"2. To provide against great surprise attack and thus reduce the danger of major war.

"3. To lessen the burden of armaments and to make possible improved standards of living.

"4. To insure that research and development activities concerning the propulsion of objects through outer space is devoted exclusively to scientific and peaceful purposes.

"5. To ease tensions and to facilitate settlement of difficult political issues."

Eddie Cantor Collapses After Hour-Long Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Eddie Cantor showed marked improvement today following his collapse at the end of an hour-long television show honoring his 65th birthday.

The banjo-eyed entertainer of vaudeville, movies and television was reported sitting at "feeling fine" at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where he was taken after his collapse on the Saturday night show.

Dr. Eliot Corda, who has accompanied Cantor on all public performances since his heart attack in 1952, said the comedian was "not in any immediate danger" and probably would be hospitalized for a few days.

State Policemen Left Holding Bag

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Illinois state police were left holding the bag Sunday.

Officers Everett Estes of Harrisburg and Francis E. Neubauer were patrolling near Jerseyville when they spied an unlocked valise on the highway. They picked it up.

They found a lumpy burlap bag inside the valise. They started unwrapping the burlap and finally cut a string around the sack.

Out jumped a large cat. Another followed.

The officers were left holding an empty bag.

McCarthy Blasts Ike's Advisers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said Sunday night that President Eisenhower is surrounded by a "dangerous... motley crowd" of advisers and that the President's brother "tops the list."

The controversial Wisconsin Republican told newsmen on a television program Press Conference, (ABC) that Mr. Eisenhower's brother, Milton, president of Johns Hopkins University, is "no more a Republican than you are a Hottentot."

McCarthy said that Dr. Milton Eisenhower has been identified in the past with "extreme, radical left-wing" groups.

McCarthy also named as members of what he called the White House "palace guard" Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, C. D. Jackson, former White House aide, and Paul Hoffman, a member of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations General Assembly.

McCarthy described Hoffman, a personal friend of the President's, as a "throw-back on the human race" and referred to Adams as "what's his name from New Hampshire."

The television appearance was the first for McCarthy since he was released from a hospital recently after undergoing lengthy treatment for a knee ailment.

McCarthy also had some harsh things to say about Harold E. Stassen, the President's disarmament adviser. He said Stassen has been urging that the United States stop experimenting with H-bombs and intercontinental missiles.

He noted that Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson had urged a ban on H-bomb tests and said Stassen had "adopted the Stevenson program except he goes further."

Gov. Stratton In Politics Since Early Age

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton, inaugurated today for his second term, was headed for a career in politics almost from birth.

At the age of 42, the governor is a political veteran who has won six of the eight campaigns for statewide office.

He was the youngest governor in Illinois in 70 years when he was inaugurated for his first term four years ago at the age of 38.

Stratton was born Feb. 26, 1914, at Ingleside in Lake County, the son of Secretary of State William J. Stratton. As a boy he got his first taste of politics accompanying his father on campaign caravans, and to this day he takes pride in his knowledge of Illinois roads, history and geography.

From the public schools of Lake County, Stratton went to the University of Arizona where he graduated in 1934 with a degree in political science.

He won his first political office in 1940, when at the age of 26 he was elected U. S. representative-at-large. In 1942 he was elected state treasurer.

Served as Navy Officer

From 1944-46, Stratton served as a Navy officer in the Pacific theater of World War II. In November, 1946, he was elected to his second term in Congress as a representative-at-large.

In 1950 Stratton was elected state treasurer for a second term, and in 1952 he won his first term as governor.

Stratton's two political defeats came in 1944 when he lost a primary bid against the Republican organization candidate for secretary of state and in 1948 when he lost again in a bid for this office to Edward J. Barrett in the general election.

Stratton is married to the former Shirley Breckenridge, and he has two daughters, Sandra, who is a student at the University of Arizona, and Diane, a Springfield High School student.

The governor has a livestock farm on the Sangamon River in Sangamon County.

Mrs. Stratton to Wear Red Satin
At Inaugural Ball

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Mrs. William G. Stratton chose a strapless, red pure silk satin gown for the governor's inaugural ball tonight.

Mrs. Stratton's gown, designed by Philip Hulitar, has a skirt semi-straight in front with graduated fullness, which reaches extreme fullness in back and has a trailing hemline. She chose red satin slippers to go with the gown.

For the inauguration ceremony itself, Mrs. Stratton wore a two-piece black suit of imported leisure with a V-neck. The short jacket has a back detail of inverted pleats and is accented with jewel buttons. The skirt is slim with two low-placed inverted pleats.

The governor's daughters, Sandra and Diane, also will attend the ball.

Sandra, a student at the University of Arizona, chose a pink strapless gown of tulle over silk with a bouffant skirt. Diane, a Springfield high school student, will wear a white satin strapless gown, princess style, with a full skirt and green sash.

Stratton Seventh
Illinois Governor
Born in State

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton, inaugurated for his second term today, is only the seventh of Illinois' 32 governors to be born in Illinois.

The first Illinois-born governor was Richard Yates, of Jacksonville who served from 1901-05, more than 80 years after Illinois became a state.

He was the namesake and son of an earlier Richard Yates, born in Warsaw, Ky., who served as governor from 1861-65.

Other Illinois-born governors were Charles S. Deneen, Edwardsville, 1905-13; Len Small, Kankakee, 1921-29; Louis L. Emerson, Albion, 1929-33; Henry Horner, Chicago, 1933-40 and John Stelle, McLeansboro, 1940.

Stratton was born at Ingleside in Lake County.

Stratton's predecessor, Adlai E. Stevenson, was born at Los Angeles, Calif., although the family home was at Bloomington.

Other Illinois governors included seven whose birth places were in Kentucky, four from New York, two from Maryland, two from Virginia, two from Pennsylvania, two from Indiana and one each from Felters, Germany, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Connecticut and Ohio.

Would Double Police Force

The governor also endorsed a recommendation of the School Problems Commission that tax equalization multipliers for figuring state aid to schools be applied at the township rather than the county level to prevent school districts from making too low and unrealistic assessments and thereby claiming an unfair share of state aid.

Fined

Wilbert Milligan of Harrisburg was arrested in the city yesterday by State Policeman Roy A. Lane, who charged him with driving while under the influence of alcohol in police magistrate court. He pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned before Police Magistrate Vern Joyner this morning and was fined $150 and costs.

Khrushchev Attacks Eisenhower Doctrine

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita Khrushchev said Sunday the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East undoubtedly will wind up "on the garbage heap of history."

Khrushchev attacked President Eisenhower's proposed program of American assistance to Arab nations in a speech to the Uzbek Council of Ministers and the Communist Central Committee in Tashkent, Radio Moscow reported.

Test for World Power in Mid- East, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the Communists will take "every risk that they dare... to win the Middle East."

Outcome of the struggle for power, he said, "could well be the decisive test in the struggle between communism and freedom."

The secretary appeared at a joint hearing of the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees to press his fight for quick approval of the "Eisenhower Doctrine" and to keep Democrats from watering it down.

"If the Middle East loses its freedom," he said, "the result will be to nullify a great part of the efforts and sacrifices which have been made by the free peoples in recent years."

"International communism," he said, "will have gained a great and perhaps decisive victory... if the Middle East stays free, we can reasonably look forward to gains for freedom throughout the world."

Taking note of specific objections raised by lawmakers since that time, the secretary said the basic principle of Congress backing up the President in standby authority for use of armed force was laid down first in the so-called Truman doctrine for Greek-Turkish aid in 1947. Since then, he said, it was followed several times in regional collective security agreements, Dulles said.

Recapture Mental Patient; Two Others Missing

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — A man considered the "most dangerous" of three mental patients who escaped this morning from the Menard State Penitentiary hospital has been captured without resistance.

Robert Westerhausen, 36, was flushed out of an abandoned house near the Chester riverfront. He surrendered after guards Charles Tripp and Stan Conner fired one warning shot outside the house.

A search is still on for the other two men—Henry Lewis, 23, a Negro, and William Allen, 24, Lewis is 5-feet-7 and weighs 180. Allen is 5-feet-11 and weighs 169 and has a mole under his right eye.

Authorities believe Allen and Lewis have separated. They were reported to be wearing hospital garb of white trousers and shirts.

The three men, all from Chicago, overpowered a guard and scaled a 12-foot fence in escaping in near-zero weather this morning. Westerhausen was captured about 2 1/2 hours later.

Constitution Convention

mended a good portion of the Mory-Jenner report although he altered it and did not mention it specifically.

He called for annual legislative sessions to put the state budget on an annual basis, elimination of the auditor and treasurer as elective offices with the treasurer and an auditor general to be appointed by the governor; creation of a new department of financial institutions to regulate banks, small loans companies and the like; and increases in the fidelity bonds of state fiscal officers.

Stratton urged the 236-million-dollar bond issue for construction and improvements at state colleges and universities and welfare institutions "because current revenues even if considerably augmented by higher taxation could not be expected to provide the great amount of money needed quickly."

Cabaret Singer Is Slashed by Crazed Patron

CHICAGO (AP) — A young Loop cabaret singer was hospitalized today with 35 stitches in her legs and arms from wounds she received in a knife attack by a crazed patron whose attentions she had spurned.

Police said 23-year-old Marilyn Dihel, a singer at the Randolph Rendezvous in the heart of Chicago's night life row, was seriously slashed while on her way to church after leaving work.

They said the attack took place shortly before dawn Sunday near St. Peter's Church in the Loop. Miss Dihel said a score of motorists saw her struggling with the assailant but "just drove on."

She told police that earlier in the evening a dark complexioned man about 25 or 28 had asked her for a date at the bar. She said she had seen him in the cabaret before. He said he was an elevator operator and identified himself only as "Pete." She said she refused his offer.

Later, she said, he followed her into a dark corridor in the back of the bar and grabbed her by the neck, saying, "Now is your don't want me, tell me and I'll kill you."

He was thrown out by the waiters, she said.

Shortly after closing time, at 5 a. m., as she walked to Mass at St. Peter's, Miss Dihel said the man walked quickly up beside her and brandished a long knife with a curved blade.

"He aimed it right at my heart," she said from her bed at the Herndon hospital. "I felt myself weakening and fell to the sidewalk and began kicking him."

She said several cars passed by, apparently ignoring her screams for help. Finally, she said, the attacker fled when a pedestrian, Walter Frye, came to her aid.

"I thought no one was going to help me," she said.

Stories Differ
On Expected
Birth of Quints

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Memphis Press-Scimitar said today in a copyrighted story that a 33-year-old Mississippi woman has been told by doctors she will give birth to quintuplets, probably this week.

Another newspaper, the Greenville, Miss., Delta Democrat-Times quoted a doctor who examined the woman, Mrs. Verna Blaylock of Drew, Miss., as saying she is expecting "a normal birth."

The Press-Scimitar said doctors told Mrs. Blaylock she probably will give birth to four boys and one girl.

"The day may be Thursday," the newspaper said. "The babies will be delivered prematurely at about seven months. There will be a Caesarian operation for their delivery."

The Delta Democrat-Times quoted Dr. J. F. Lucas of Greenwood, Miss., as saying the quintuplet report is "baloney" and that a "normal birth" is expected for Mrs. Blaylock.

The Greenville newspaper said Lucas implied that a single birth is anticipated.

The Democrat-Times said the father, C. Lester Blaylock, 46, told the newspaper that a doctor in Elkhart, Ind., Mrs. Blaylock's home town, reported the likelihood of multiple birth.

Senate Watches
Shivers' Action in Replacing Daniel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The eyes of the Senate are on Texas, watching for action which can shake or break the precarious Democratic hold on one house of Congress.

Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.) becomes governor of his state at noon Tuesday. He has submitted his resignation as a senator, effective Tuesday.

Senators are wondering whether retiring Gov. Allan Shivers, an Eisenhower Democrat, will appoint a successor to Daniel, pending a special election. They also wonder whether a Shivers appointee would vote with the Republicans or Democrats to organize the Senate.

Plan Quick Campaign
For March of Dimes
In Business District

Mrs. Ed Brantley, chairman of the group of women to canvass Harrisburg business houses Tuesday for the March of Dimes campaign, stated today the campaign would start between 9 and 9:30 a. m.

"We plan to conduct a quick campaign and finish the job in one day. There will be no call backs unless a merchant makes a special request that we call again," Mrs. Brantley declared.

This phase of the March of Dimes financial drive will be completed by a group of twelve Harrisburg women. They will wear a Blue Crutch on their coat to identify them as official canvassers for the March of Dimes.

Senator McCarthy, Wife, Adopt Baby

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) announced Sunday night that he and his wife have adopted "the best looking baby in the whole world."

He said they obtained the 5-week-old, 10-pound girl from the Foundling Home of New York City and brought her to Washington Saturday night.

The McCarthys have named the baby Tierney Elizabeth McCarthy. The senator said the name is a combination of Mrs. McCarthy's mother's name, Elizabeth, and his mother's maiden name, Tierney.

The senator married the former Jean Kerr, a member of his staff, here in 1953. They have had no children.

West Defeats East, 19 to 10

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The West enjoyed revenge today after downing Eastern members of the National Football League, 19-10, in the seventh renewal of the pro bowl game in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

The victory put the West ahead 4-3 in the annual charity rivalry staged by the Los Angeles Publishers Assn.

Halfback Bert Rechichar of Baltimore sparked the victory, booting four field goals, one of them a record-tying 51-yarder that put the West convincingly ahead in the final period. It tied an earlier boot by the East's Sam Baker in the third quarter that broke the pro bowl field goal record set by Lou Groza in 1956.

Rechichar was voted the outstanding back of the game by sports writers and the East's Ernie Stautner of Pittsburgh won the award as outstanding line-man.

The losing coach, Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants, blamed the loss on pass interceptions. "It was a terrific game. We gave up six passes on interceptions, however, and you can't win a game that way."

THE MUDDY GRADE SCHOOL basketball team, member of the Midget conference, has a record of five victories and four losses for the season. Carrier Mills Beats Rosiclare, 43 to 40 for 14th Win of Season

The Carrier Mills Wildcats are still unbeaten, racking up their 14th consecutive victory of the season Saturday night, but only after a struggle.

Victory number 14 came at the expense of Rosiclare, 43-40. And the game was just as close as the score indicates.

Knowing they couldn't run and shoot with the bigger Carrier Mills team, Rosiclare played an excellent floor game and gave a brilliant exhibition of ball handling.

But the all-around strength of the Carrier Mills team, especially in the rebounding department, paid off with a well earned victory.

There was a lot at stake—Carrier Mills trying to remain undefeated and Rosiclare striving hard to win over the only team that has defeated them all year—and the crowd was tense from the opening whistle.

Hustle Fan From Gym
The excitement finally proved more than one fan could take. Late in the game a fan piled out on the floor to object to an official's decision. Time was called and the fan was quickly hustled out of the gym.

Carrier Mills Principal Carl Dilow walked to the center of the floor and reminded the crowd the players were bound by certain rules of conduct and then stated, "Surely the fans can abide by the rules of good sportsmanship."

The fans roared approval and the well played, thrilling game continued without further incident. In the first quarter Carrier Mills raced to a 9-2 lead, but Rosiclare pressed effectively to come back and knot the count at 9-9 with 2:32 to play. The score was again tied 11-11, but Rosiclare held a 13-11 lead at the end of a quarter of play and early in the second frame was on top 15-11.

Then Carrier Mills tied the score and later went in front 18-17 and at the half CM held a 21-19 advantage. Each team scored 8

Bull Dogs Bow to Rams, 78-58

Locals Will Play at Marion Friday Night; Herrin Here Saturday

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs this week tangle with a couple of Williamson county basketball teams after splitting even in two contests over the week end.

Friday night they meet the Wildcats on the Marion floor and entertain Herrin here Saturday evening. Both are South Seven conference tilts.

The Bull Dogs, after defeating Benton here, 77 to 74, in a league contest last Friday, travelled to Mt. Vernon the next night and were beaten in another loop engagement, 78-55.

A Harrisburg press bothered the big Mt. Vernon team at times but the locals could not cope with the rebounding of the bigger boys. Don Williams, Ram center, is 6-4, forward Wiley Hopkins 6-3, forward Don Neal 6-1 and guard Mike McGannon at least six feet.

Bull Pups Win
The local boys kept pitching all the way and midway in the last quarter were behind but seven points, 63-56. But in the last half of this frame Mt. Vernon scored 15 points while the Bull Dogs were making but two.

Mt. Vernon led all the way after the first minute or two. The Rams were ahead 19-12 at the quarter and 46-24 at the half. The Bull Dogs were outscored but 21-20 the third quarter, which ended 57-44.

Williams, with 25 points, was high scorer for the game, followed by Andy Changnon with 21 and Hopkins with 17. Bill Henshaw was high for Harrisburg with 14. John Zeigler and Ray Hassett had 11 each.

In the preliminary game the Bull Pups won a close one, 44 to 42.

Seven New Babies In Saluki Family

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois University's new mother and her seven babies are progressing nicely, according to Dr. Robert A. Scott, chemistry professor who witnessed the births.

The mother is Ornah Farouk, female half of a pair of purebred Salukis presented as mascots to Southern last fall by W. W. Vandever, Rocky River, Ohio, past president of the SIU Alumni association. Vandever is president of the Ashland Oil company. The Saluki is an ancient Egyptian hunting dog resembling a greyhound.

Born "all day long" last Tuesday, the litter consists of two males and five females, Scott said. He is keeping the Saluki family, including the sire, Bury-down Datis, in kennels at his home in Carbondale.

'HE DIDN'T SAY MAYBE'—Manager Bill Rigney of the Giants was downcast after looking at a picture of Jackie Robinson hanging up his baseball jacket — "for good." Rigney, home at Walnut Creek, Calif., is of the opinion Jackie would look better batting behind Willie Mays than standing behind the counter of a snack bar outfit—his new employer.

Jay Hebert Wins Crosby Open; First of Career

PEEBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Jay Hebert, a Louisiana Frenchman who licked the Japs at Iwo Jima but never before could conquer the touring golf professionals, headed south of the border today with the first golfing victory of his career behind him and the position as the leading money winner of the young 1957 tour.

Hebert, 33, won the pro division of the $15,000 Bing Crosby pro-amateur tournament here Sunday and collected $2,500 for that. He and his partner, amateur Roger Kelly of Los Angeles, finished second in the pro-amateur division and he picked up $875 extra there. That gave him $3,375 for the week-end's work.

So that he headed for the Caliente Open at Tijuana with winnings of $7,125.

Hebert shot a two-under-par 70 that gave him a 213 total for the 54-hole tournament.

That was two strokes better than the 215 posted by defending champion Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who posted an even par 72.

Middlecoff, who had won the pro division twice in a row, came in second and got $1,500 for that. The doctor was paired with amateur Ed Crosley of Los Angeles and San Francisco to win the pro-amateur division and picked up another $1,500 there—so he fared well. Their best ball score was a record-shattering 187.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, B. C., finished in third place in the pro division with a 216 total, good for $1,000; and Walter Burkemo, Royal Oak, Mich., came next with a 219, which paid $700.

There was a four-way tie at 220 between Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif.; Paul O'Leary, Bismark, N. D.; Ken Venturi, San Francisco; and Wesley Ellis, Westbury, N. Y., each collecting $350.

SEA ISLAND, Ga.: Mickey Wright rallied after a disastrous first nine to card a 74 and capture the 4th annual Sea Island women's golf open.

BACK TO WORK—Jackie Burke announced that he would be a part-time golfer, but the Masters and PGA champion was back among the leaders when the 1957 tour opened in California.

Buckeyes, First in Big Ten Play, Meet Gophers Tonight; Illini Favored Over Indiana

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State's unbeaten Buckeyes were favored to fatten their Big Ten basketball lead tonight by defeating Minnesota for their third straight conference victory.

The Buckeyes, making a virtue of idleness, jumped into undisputed possession of first place Saturday night while co-occupants Northwestern, Indiana and Minnesota all went down to defeat.

The three losers once again proved the magic of the home court advantage in conference basketball. Thus far nine of 13 home teams have won, for a "batting" average of 692.

The Buckeyes will have the home floor edge over the Gophers in addition to their high-scoring sharpshooters, Frank Howard and Ken Sidle. The Gophers boast a couple of ranking marksmen of their own in Jed Dommeyer and George Kline, but the Ohio club's speed and versatility of attack is expected to decide the contest.

In other action tonight, Illinois was favored over Indiana in a battle of second place giants, Purdue over Northwestern and Michigan over Wisconsin. Michigan State and Iowa were not scheduled.

The Illini, supported ably by George Bon Salle's 21 points, won their second straight game Saturday afternoon in handing the Badgers their third loss in a row. The home court advantage failed to help the hapless Wisconsin team, which fell behind at the outset and wound up the victim of a 79-63 lacing.

Purdue stepped back into the conference race with an explosive second half rally to produce a 70-64 triumph over Indiana. Steady Lamar Lundy was the Boiler-makers' top scorer with 15 points.

The Wildcats of Northwestern also staged a final minute spurge in their contest with Michigan but the Wolverines maintained an edge and closed with a 64-63 decision for their second victory in three games.

Center Tom Payne and guards Jim McConnell and Clarence Wordlaw bagged 68 points to help Iowa pull an 89-66 upset win over Minnesota.

Metropolis Beats Pope County, 75-48

The Trojans led 18-12 at the quarter, 37-26 at the half and 54-36 at the end of the third period.

Individual scoring:
Metropolis—Taylor 23, Parr 3, Humma 8, Stratemeyer 12, Williams 10, Burnett 13, Reisinger 6, Pope County—King 30, Ferrell 3, Smith 2, Brown 2, Wallace 2, Boaz 2, Titsworth 2, Green 3, Dillinger 2.
